Australian Resuscitation Council

Instructor Course Faculty

The Instructor Course faculty are responsible for the delivery of the Australian Resuscitation Council Instructor Course. They facilitate workshops, provide formative and summative feedback, and support participants in developing the skills, knowledge, and confidence required to become effective Council endorsed Advanced Life Support (ALS) provider course instructors. This role is critical in developing the next generation of resuscitation instructors, directly contributing to improved patient outcomes through high-quality adult education.

The Australian Resuscitation Council is accepting applications from established ALS Instructors to join the Instructor Course Faculty. If you would like to join the Instructor Course faculty, please complete the expression of interest form:
